

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

SEVENTH EDITION.

The present issue of "The Adams Cable Codex" is an enlarged edition of over 160 pages, and is published especially in the interest of the travelling public, and also contains much matter of value to bankers, brokers, and the business community at large.

The majority of those who travel have investment interests at home about which they require information while abroad, and to this class the large number of pages referring to "Buying," "Selling," "Market," "Condition of Firms, etc.," will commend themselves as of especial value. In this, i.e., the SEVENTH EDITION, we have made a number of changes and added over twenty pages, therefore in cabling be sure that both the receiver and sender of messages have a copy of this, the SEVENTH EDITION.

The value of this code will be seen at a glance. We will suppose that the friend abroad is in Paris and is about to leave for London and wishes to apprise his friend at home of that fact. He turns to the Index and finds sentences beginning with "Am going to," "Am leaving for," etc., are to be found on pages 80 to 82, and then makes up the following message:—"INGRATE, LONDON, TUESDAY," which, when translated by the receiver, means, "Am going to London and expect to reach there Tuesday morning. Telegrams sent to me there will reach me promptly." In this message twenty words are sent at the cost of but three. Or, he can cable "INTACT, LONDON," which would mean—"Leave here to-day for London. If anything new occurs, telegraph so as to reach me at that place."

If, at the same time, an address is to be given in London, the message can be made up as follows:—"INGRATE, LONDON, TUESDAY, BANKERS," which would then read, "Am going to London and expect to reach there Tuesday morning. Telegrams sent to me there, care of bankers, will reach me promptly." In the place of "BANKERS" in the message, can be given the cable name of the bankers in whose care the message is to be sent. Then again, the one abroad may wish to know if all goes well at home. He turns to the Index, and finds on page 82 the following:—"INSTITUTOR," meaning, "Is everything all right and everybody all well at home?" If the friend at home is to be apprised of the address of the one abroad, then the following message can be sent:—"INSTITUTOR, INTOXICATE, BANKERS" meaning, "Is everything all right and everybody all well at home? Telegraph reply to me here, care of bankers." If in a small town where there is but one cable office, and a reply is wanted, the following can be added to any message:—"INTRINSIC," meaning, "There is but one office here, to which all cables are sent, so that messages giving my cable name only and addressed to this place will reach me promptly."

If a number of people are travelling together, and, for instance, Mr. Bowzer and Mr. Towzer of the party wish to inquire through the one who is sending the message in regard to those at home, the following can be added:—"BOWZER, TOWZER, JAGGED;" or, "Bowzer and Towzer wish to know if everybody is well and everything all right at home."

JAMES STUMPHES PRAY

Published by E. A. ADAMS & CO., 115 State Street, Boston, U. S. A.

In regard to illness, Mr. Towzer's wife is ill at home and he must be notified of the fact. Turning to the Index, we find a number of pages under this heading, and from page 17 we can make the following message:—"MRS. TOWZER, ALBURNOUS," which would read, "Mrs. Towzer is ill. Sickness is not serious, but keep within reach of telegram so that we can communicate with you if wanted."

On page 42 will be found a number of sentences by which a message can be sent and delivered to a third party who may not happen to have this code. If any telegrams are sent to us—"Delta, Boston,"—we shall be happy to forward same to any address that may be named in the cable message.

To those unused to cable codes let us say that before leaving home it will be necessary for both the traveller and the friend at home to select some distinguishing cable address. For instance, to send a message to "E. A. Adams & Co., 115 State St., Boston," will entail an expense of cabling nine words for the address alone, while a despatch can be addressed in two words to "DELTA, BOSTON," our cable address, and on its receipt at the cable office, it will be sent at once to us, our full name and address being registered, together with our cable name, at the head offices of all the different companies in Boston.

The friend who is to cable from abroad must also select some special cable address, but we do not recommend, on account of the trouble and expense involved, the usual cost being one guinea, the registration of his cable name at the telegraph offices in any of the large cities, unless he intends to remain for some time in one particular city. In travelling hurriedly from place to place it is better to have messages sent in the care of a banker, an hotel, or an exchange (preference being given to the place where a telegram will be most likely to reach the receiver at any hour of the day or night), nearly all of which have a cable address, so that messages sent in their care will be promptly delivered. As a rule we should say that telegrams sent in care of the hotel where one is stopping would be soonest delivered. When it is understood beforehand, it will not be necessary to sign messages, unless telegrams are being sent to or received from different parties in the same place, when it is well that each bear the cable signature of the sender.

To prevent confusion and any liability of miscarriage, some peculiar and uncommon name should be selected, if possible, for the cable address. Any one of the following names will answer, or similar ones can be chosen. For instance: AKENSIDE, BARHAM, BELLONA, BOSCAWEN, etc. If on application to the telegraph office it is found that the same name has been previously registered by some one else, then, of course, another must be chosen. On page 66 will be found a sentence "ELUCIDATE," announcing a change of one's cable name or address. Also see pages 80 and 81 for changes of cable name or address.

In closing we must add one word of caution; i. e., when making up a message be sure to write clearly and distinctly. In sending a telegram it should be understood, especially in cipher messages, that the telegraph operator has to deal with letters and not words. In writing a message, therefore, every letter should stand out so clearly and distinctly that there can be no chance of error.

Furthermore, in sending and receiving messages, do not fail to take time to read the telegram carefully, and re-check it to and from the code. Too much care cannot be taken in the translation of cable messages, as an error may cost both the sender and the receiver a deal of trouble, worry, and expense.

This code is the result of many months' labor, and must commend itself to any one who has to use the ocean cables or the overland telegraph lines. It does not, of course, cover every exigency which may arise, and we doubt if any code could be gotten up that would do this. Any suggestions which the users of this code may have to make which will add to its value and efficiency we shall be glad to receive, and may be able to embody them in our next edition, to which we shall probably add a number of pages.

TO OUR PATRONS.

Users of this code will confer a favor by advising us of any mistakes that may come to their notice, and we shall also be glad to receive any suggestions that may serve to increase its value and usefulness. In sending a plain message (i.e., not in cipher) be sure that none of the words used can be found in and translated from the code.

THE BOSTON Saturday Evening Gazette.

THE SOCIETY PAPER OF BOSTON.

The BOSTON SATURDAY EVENING GAZETTE is peculiarly a Boston paper, and has been for over three-quarters of a century the leading family weekly journal of the city. Its circulation is among the most intelligent and influential class of readers. In the discussion of topics relating to

Literature, Politics, Art, Music, and the Drama, Society, and the General Affairs of the Day, it employs the best writers, and among these are gentlemen and ladies who are recognized as the first authorities in the specialties of which they treat.

An important feature is the publication of the sermons of the Rev. C. G. Ames of the Church of the Disciples, which are printed each week during nine months of the year. They are broad and liberal in spirit and wholly in sympathy with all that is best in modern progress, intellectual and social.

The GAZETTE is a special favorite with the ladies. Its "Out and About" columns contain a larger amount of matter of interest to this class than can be found in any weekly journal in the country, and have given it a reputation in Society Circles everywhere. Its other specialties are scarcely less popular with its readers. As a hotel paper, the GAZETTE stands second to none in extent and thoroughness of information. It is taken in clubs throughout the United States. In fact, as a Society, Hotel and Club Paper, it is without a rival.

As an advertising medium the advantages of the GAZETTE are obvious, and are widely appreciated. No journal has a more select and desirable advertising patronage; and by the Book Trade, the Hotels of the Country, the Dry Goods Trade, and in specialties in which the patronage of ladies is solicited, it is most of all sought.

"One of the brightest and most enterprising papers in New England."—HARPER'S WEEKLY.

"THE BOSTON SATURDAY EVENING GAZETTE continues to be conducted with diligent enterprise, and to maintain its claims to the regard of its numerous friends by the diversity and ability manifested in its well-filled columns from week to week."—BOSTON TRANSCRIPT.

"THE BOSTON SATURDAY EVENING GAZETTE, which has seen the rise and fall of at least a score of newspapers in Boston, keeps on the even tenor of its way without a skip or a break. Its appearance is not suggestive of age, but of perpetual youth, and it holds its peculiar field without a rival."—BOSTON HERALD.
